A PLACE FOR THE IMPORTANT DETAIL

Know your horse. Keep the detail.

Every horse has its own profile, history and care context. Switch horses to see the records that belong to the one you are looking after.

Individual horse profiles

Keep the horse's identity and everyday needs together.

- Add a photograph, breed, age, weight and body condition.
- Record clipping, coat, living arrangements, shelter and forage.
- Keep a named rug inventory with fill weights.

Explore this feature

Private passport copies

Keep a convenient reference copy alongside the horse's profile.

- Photograph or select passport-page images and combine them into a PDF.
- Download the PDF when you need a copy.
- Passport PDFs remain owner-only. Retain the original official passport.

Insurance & renewals

Find policy information when you need it and keep renewal dates in view.

- Record provider, policy reference, contact details and notes.
- Add the renewal date to the care calendar.
- Choose optional renewal alerts, including a lead time before renewal.

Explore this feature

Private documents stay private.

Sharing a horse's care does not give carers access to the owner's passport PDF or private insurance policy details. The next update adds separate, optional sharing of limited summaries—see page 7.

PLAN FOR THE TIME YOU ARE AWAY

A clearer view of weather and rugs.

Use the forecast for your yard and your horse's saved care details to plan a turnout or stabled period.

Your chosen window

Set when you leave and when you expect to return. Review forecast temperature, rain and wind across that period, rather than just the conditions right now.

Horse-specific rug guidance

Saved coat, clipping, body condition, shelter and management details help shape a starting rug range. A named rug inventory helps you compare that suggestion with what you own.

Useful alerts while away

An away window pauses routine rug-update prompts. Severe weather and extreme-heat warnings can still reach you, subject to permissions and delivery.

Prepare for your return

A return suggestion is due 30 minutes before the end of your saved window. Reassess the horse and update your window when your plans change.

Explore weather and rug planning □

The forecast supports your judgement.

Check your horse, yard conditions, shade, water and management in person. Rug suggestions and heat alerts are guidance, not veterinary advice or a guarantee of safety. Arrange help if your horse needs care while you are away.

NOTICE THE ROUTINE. FOLLOW THE CHANGE.

Feed, weight and condition.

Keep a useful record of what your horse receives and how their weight changes over time.

Feed diary

Record feeds, forage and supplements for the selected horse.

- Keep dated entries with a meal or time label.
- Record the feed name, quantity and unit.
- Review and edit earlier entries as your routine changes.

Weight & body condition

Build a weight history and keep current body condition in view.

- Record weight and the measurement method.
- Follow dated measurements on the weight chart.
- Update the horse's current body-condition score in their profile.

Coming next: a fuller meal record.

Version 1.1.0 adds multiple ingredients per meal, optional brands, scoop portions and sizes, optional scoop weights, and Copy meal. These improvements are awaiting App Review—see page 7.

CONSISTENCY MAKES RECORDS MORE USEFUL

A clearer picture, over time.

Use a consistent weighing method where practical, record what you know and review changes with an appropriate professional. StableCue is a diary, not a ration calculator.

KEEP THE NEXT VISIT IN VIEW

The routines that keep care moving.

Bring the calendar and individual care diaries together, with each entry linked to the correct horse.

Care calendar

Keep important appointments and follow-ups together.

- Record visit dates, optional times and notes.
- Set repeat intervals and retain completed visit history.
- Opt in to eligible care reminders.

Explore this feature

Hoof diary

Record routine hoof care and useful observations.

- Log trims, shoeing and hoof checks.
- Note the hoof, shoe status and any concern.
- Add photographs and visit notes where useful.

Explore this feature

Vaccination records

Keep a clear record of vaccines and boosters.

- Record the vaccine, date and batch details.
- Note the administering professional.
- Save the next date advised by your vet.

Explore this feature

Worming & FEC

Keep parasite-care information in one history.

- Record faecal egg counts and other tests.
- Log products or treatments actually used.
- Keep results, dose notes and professional follow-up dates.

Explore this feature

Dates and reminders support your records. Vaccination and parasite-control schedules should follow advice appropriate to the horse; StableCue does not prescribe a programme.

FROM DAILY OBSERVATIONS TO A DAY OUT

Care for the detail. Remember the ride.

Keep everyday observations, recovery notes and exercise history alongside your horse’s other records.

Grooming diary

Notice coat and skin changes alongside daily care.

- Log grooming, bathing, clipping and coat checks.
- Record time, observations and the person recording.
- Keep useful follow-up notes.

Explore this feature

Injury & recovery

Keep dated observations and veterinary instructions together.

- Record the affected area and known observations.
- Save follow-up notes and dates.
- Use the history to support an informed conversation with your vet.

Explore this feature

Exercise diary

Build a picture of work, rest and recovery.

- Record activity, duration, distance and intensity.
- Note surface, behaviour and how the horse felt.
- Review sessions and weekly activity totals.

GPS rides & hacks

Record a ride with the native iPhone app.

- Keep recording in the background and with the iPhone locked.
- Pause, resume and save the ride with its exercise entry.
- Review the route and export a GPX file.

Explore this feature

GPS requires location permission and a ride you start. Signal, battery, operating-system settings and interruptions can affect recording. Injury notes do not replace veterinary assessment.

COMING IN THE NEXT UPDATE

More detail. Easier shared care.

Version 1.1.0 has been submitted for App Review. The features below are not yet part of the public App Store release.

VERSION 1.1.0

Submitted for App Review

Availability follows Apple approval and release. No release date is promised.

COMING NEXT

Your horse’s care team

Vet, farrier, physio, dentist and five custom contacts, accessed from the horse profile.

Each contact can include name, telephone, address and email. The owner chooses whether authorised carers can view these details.

COMING NEXT

Optional summary sharing

Separate switches let the owner share a passport number and insurance company, phone and policy number with authorised carers.

Sharing is off by default. Original passport PDFs and other private policy details remain owner-only.

COMING NEXT

Meals with multiple ingredients

Add products and optional brands to named meals. Choose ¼, ½, ¾ or full scoop and small, medium, large or as supplied.

Enter an optional weight per full scoop for that product and copy a previous meal without changing its history.

COMING NEXT

Medication & administration

Record medication, the vet’s dose instructions, treatment dates and notes for each horse.

Log Given, Skipped or Missed, with time and the person recording. Keep dose details in the history and add an optional review-date reminder.

Recording care, not recommending treatment.

Medication records store instructions supplied by you. StableCue does not prescribe, recommend medicines or calculate medication doses. Review reminders are not automatic recurring dose alarms.

ONE HORSE OR MORE. ONE PLACE TO BEGIN.

Make it part of your everyday care.

Download StableCue by EquiGuild for iPhone, create your account and build a profile for each horse.

1. Add your horse. Start with the essentials, then add care details as you go.
2. Set your yard. Bring the local forecast into your weather and rug planning.
3. Build the routine. Add records, appointments and the alerts you want.

Share care with control

Invite a verified account to a specific horse and choose view or care-editing access. Review or revoke that access when arrangements change.

Keep copies of important records

Export a record backup and available photographs. Passport PDFs have their own downloads. Keep original documents and useful exports.

Choose your alerts

Notification permission and saved care/weather preferences are separate. Delivery depends on device settings, connectivity and service availability.
